

Mediation

in teaching, learning and assessment

Transform your language teaching practices with the “Mediation in teaching, learning, and assessment” (METLA) platform! The platform offers a gateway to understanding and applying mediation together with a series of tools to integrate cross-linguistic mediation into daily classroom practice.

Bring innovative, engaging cross-linguistic mediation tasks into your classroom!

With the METLA resources, foreign language teachers can:

- discover practical ways to include mediation in the classroom;
- access ready-made tasks for various languages and educational contexts;
- design and evaluate their own mediation activities with step-by-step guidelines.

The materials are in particular suitable for:

- foreign language teachers in primary and secondary education,
- teacher educators,
- curriculum planners and material developers,
- school inspectors and advisors.

www.ecml.at/mediation

Key resources at a glance:

Teaching guide for foreign language teachers in primary and secondary education

Learn what mediation is, how to teach and assess it, and explore examples of mediation tasks based on the Companion Volume of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

Database with cross-linguistic mediation tasks

Access sample tasks in multiple languages and contexts to enrich your lessons.

Bilingual glossary – Understand key terms in mediation and plurilingualism.

Bibliography – Dive deeper into mediation with selected references.

The European Centre for Modern Languages is a Council of Europe institution promoting excellence in language education in its member states.

www.ecml.at

